ABSTRAK

Oleh:

NUROH FAUZIANA

Tujuan utama dari penelitian ini adalah untuk mengetahui apakah penggunaan skimming teknik dalam membaca teks dapat meningkatkan kemampuan pemahaman membaca pada siswa kelas X (Sepuluh) MA Darul A'mal Metro tahun akademik 2018/2019. Pre-test di gunakan untuk mengetahui kemampuan siswa dalam memahami bacaan teks dan post-test untuk mengetahui hasil dari kemampuan siswa dalam membaca teks setelah diberikan treatment (perlakuan) yaitu berupa penggunaan teknik skimming dalam membaca teks naratif.

Jenis penelitian ini adalah penelitian tindakan kelas yang dilaksanakan dalam dua siklus. Masing-masing siklus terdapat perencanaan, pelaksanaan, pengamatan dan refleksi. Objek dari penelitian ini adalah 33 siswa kelas X IPS 1 di MA Darul A'mal Metro. Dalam mengumpulkan data, penulis menggunakan test (pre-test, post-test I dan post-test II), pengamatan dan dokumentasi.

Hasil dari penelitian ini menunjukkan bahwa teknik skimming dapat di gunakan sebagai teknik untuk meningkatkan kemampuan pemahaman membaca siswa khususnya dalam teks naratif, ini di buktikan dengan rata-rata nilai hasil pre-test dan post-test. Rata-rata nilai pre-test adalah 53,6 kemudian post-test I rata-rata nilainya adalah 72,4, dan rata-rata nilai pada post-test II adalah 84,4. Berdasarkan hasil di atas, dapat dilihat bahwa terdapat peningkatan nilai rata-rata dari pre-test, post-test I dan post-test II.

ABSTRACT

BY:

NUROH FAUZIANA

The primary goal of this research is to find out that skimming technique can improve reading comprehension among the tenth grade students at MA Darul A'mal Metro in academic year of 2018/2019. Pre-test is used to know the students ability in understanding reading text and post-test to know the result of the students ability in reading text after giving the treatment that was the use of skimming technique in reading narrative text.

The kind of this research was classroom action research (CAR) which was conducted in two cycles. Each cycle consist of planning, acting, observing and reflecting. Object of this research was 33 students in X IPS 1 class of MA Darul A'mal Metro. In collecting data, the writer used test (pre-test, post-test I and post-test II), observation and documentation.

The result of this research shows that skimming technique can be used as a technique to improve students reading comprehension ability especially in narrative text, it proved by the average score result of pre-test and post-test. The average score at pre-test is 53,6 then at post-test I the average score is 72,4 and the average score at post-test II is 84,4. Based the result above, it can be seen that there were improvement average score from the pre-test, post-test I and post-test II.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

A. Background of Study

Language is the main subject in communication. By using language most people will be able to communicate with the other, whether native or foreign language. Beside that, they can share their good ideas and interact in their environment well. People needed language not only for communicating but also for getting knowledge, science and technology.

Furthermore, English is an international language that is used by people in a whole of the world including Indonesia. In education, English is one of basic subject, which every student must master it. The students should be master four skills in English. The four skills that must be mastered by students are Listening, Speaking, Writing and Reading. Reading is very essential in language learning. Understanding of reading in one of particular important. Because, reading gives the way for the human to get information about something even though it is not natural part of human development.

Moreover, Reading comprehension is the understanding of message from the text. This understanding comes from the interaction between the words that are written and how they trigger knowledge outside the text. Reading comprehension is one of the ways to make the readers get understanding when they are reading something.

Basically, reading is the main activity in senior high school. Most of the material in senior high school is about discourse text. There are two kinds of text that students learn in the tenth graders, they are Descriptive and Narrative. The text that usually difficult to understand for the students is narrative text.

In addition, the students should learn reading effectively in order they can be find the information according the text. But, the students feel bored and lazy when they must read a text, even less answer the questions about the text. They got difficulties to answer the question in a text because they do not know how to get information of the text easily and they need much understanding a text exactly. Moreover, the students have low motivation in reading comprehension and they do not have much time to read the text word by word to find the main idea because of the length of the text.

Therefore, the writer choose skimming technique for teaching learning English, because of skimming is important to help students understand the text. Skimming is a reading or glancing quickly which possible save lost of time, especially when a reader is required to read a long article. Skimming is usually seen in adult than children, because in skimming technique the reader acquire a higher rate. If the readers get the meaning of the text in this activity the readers only reads the words that will help. They are pays attention to the part which gives him/her clues to the contents of the articles.

This table below is the result of pre-survey on April 29th, 2018 among the tenth grade at MA Darul A'mal Metro.

Minimum Mastery Criteria (MMC) English at MA Darul A'mal is 76. Based on the data above there are many students failed in reading comprehension. From the result of pre-survey, it can be seen that just 7 of 33 students have good score in reading comprehension. It means that only 21,2% reach minimum requirement yet. Moreover, 26 of 33 students have low score in reading comprehension. It can be said that 78,8% students do not reach minimum requirement. Only 7 students who passed reading comprehension and 30 students failed.

The writer assume that the students in learning English especially reading comprehension in narrative text is low. It is because of the students did not understand how to read of narrative text. The writer is interested in using Skimming Technique to help students comprehension in narrative text.

Skimming can be an effectively way quickly to review something that has been read previously, so that the reader can recall the most significant parts. When students try to do skim, they can save a time for specific information, get a very basic idea what the reading is about, and then the students can decide whether or not they need to read it more carefully, it provides a general overview of the reading, it may get more interested in the subject.

B. Problem Identification

There are some problems related to reading comprehension:

1. The students have difficulties in reading comprehension ability especially in narrative text.
2. Student has less motivation in reading comprehension ability.
3. Students do not have much time to read the text word by word to find the main idea because of the length of the text
4. The students still use ineffective reading technique.
5. The students have difficulties to answer the question from the text.

C. Problem Limitation

Based on the background of study and problems identification above, the writer would like to focus on “The students have difficulties in reading comprehension ability, especially in narrative text”.

D. Problem Formulation

From the problem limitation above, it can be formulated problem formulation as follow “Can skimming technique improve the students reading comprehension ability in narrative text among the tenth grade at MA Darul A'mal Metro?''.

E. Objective and Benefits of the Study

1. The Objective of the Study

The objective of the study is to show that the use of Skimming Technique can improve the students reading comprehension ability in narrative text among the tenth grade at MA Darul A'mal Metro.

2. Benefits of the Study

The results of this research might be useful as follow:

a. For the students

- 1) By using Skimming Technique it is hoped that the students be able to increase their reading comprehension ability especially in narrative text.
- 2) The students can use the effective technique to improve their reading comprehension ability in narrative text.

b. For the Teacher

- 1) By using Skimming Technique it is hoped that the teacher can teach reading ability to their students in more efficient way.
- 2) By using Skimming Technique to give information about the importance of reading.
- 3) By using this technique, the teacher can improve teaching and learning process in the classroom.

c. For the Headmaster

This technique can be used in English learning process by preparing the teaching instrument's support in the school.

F. Prior Research

The studies of using skimming technique in reading comprehension have been widely conducted by some researchers. The first researcher by Ami Rahayu 2016 was research about "Improving Reading Comprehension Abilities in Descriptive Text by Using Skimming Technique Among Eleventh Grader of Senior High School Muhammadiyah Pekalongan in Academic Year 2016/2017", State Islamic College (STAIN) of Jurai Siwo Metro. The writer's research has similarity and differentiation with Ami Rahayu's research. The similarity is in form of the same is topic of Skimming Technique to improving students reading comprehension ability. Meanwhile, there are some differentiation related with the graders and kind of text. The writer research will be conducted at tenth grade of senior high school. Ami Rahayu's research was conducted at the eleventh grade of senior high school. Then, the writer will apply Skimming technique to improve students reading comprehension in Narrative text, Ami Rahayu applied Skimming technique to improve students reading comprehension abilities in Descriptive Text. The result of this reserach showed that Skimming technique had positive role in improving students reading comprehension ability at the eleventh graders of SMA Muhammadiyah Pekalongan. It can be proved by student's average score from pre test to post test. The average score in pre test was 57.5 and in post test was 59.79 became 69.73. it means that using Skimming technique in reading especially descriptive text can improve the students' reading comprehension ability.

Second conducted by G. Budi Prasetyo 2012 was research about "Improving Student's Reading Comprehension through the Implementation of Skimming Technique at Class VIII D SMPN 2 Sukoharjo, Pringsewu". The writer's reserach has similarity and differentiaton with the research that was do by G. Budi Prasetyo. The similarity is in form of the same topic that is about the implementation of Skimming technique to improve students reading comprahension. Meanwhile, there is differentiation related with the education level. G. Budi Prasetyo's research was conducted at the eight grade of Junior High School level. The result of this research proves that skimming technique can be used to improve students' reading comprehension. The indicators of the research are concerned on the learning product and learning process. The indicator of learning product is 80% of the students pass the passing grade which is 75 while the learning process is 80% of the students are active during the lesson. In the first cycle, there were only 31,8% of the students who passed the passing grade and 46% of the students who were active in the lesson. The rest of the students were still unable to use the techniques so that they could not participate more in the lesson. In the second cycle after students were given individual treatment based on their pace in understanding the technique and answering reading test, both of the indicators of this research were achieved. In students' reading score, 81.5% students passed the passing grade and 85% of students actively involved in teaching and learning process. Based on the data, the G. Budi Prasetyo concludes that there is an improvement of students' reading comprehension after skimming techniques is implemented.

Based on researcher above, it is concluded that all of prior researchers have similarity with the research that will conducted by the writer. The similarity is in the use of Skimming technique in improving students reading comprehension. However, kind of the text that will be taught is different with the first prior reserach used Skimming technique in improving reading comprehension ability in Descriptive text meanwhile, the writer will apply Skimming technique to improve reading comprehension in Narrative text. In addition, the differentiation among the first and second prior research are in the graders of students. Where in the first prior reserach, the reseracher conducted the reserach at the eleventh grade of Senior High School and the second prior research conducted the research at eight grade of Junior High school. Meanwhile, the writer will apply Skimming technique at the tenth grade of Senior High School.

CHAPTER II

REVIEW OF THE RELATED THEORIES

A. Theoretical Description

1. The Concept of Reading Comprehension Ability

a. The Definition of Reading Comprehension Ability

Reading is the process understanding to interpretation of the written language form.¹ It is a complex activity that involves both perception and thought. When the students read, they use eyes to receive written symbols (letters, punctuation marks and spaces) and use brain to convert into words, sentences and paragraph that communicate something us.

Jane states that “Reading is the active thinking process of understanding an author’s ideas, connecting those ideas to what you already know, and then organizing all the ideas so you can remember and use them”.² It means that reading is an activity that used to understand something by written or printed word and the way to know more about something to get information from organizing the ideas of the passage.

Reading is receipted skill. It is a skill to comprehend a piece of information in the written language.³ In other word, to gain the messages conveyed by writer in the text, the reader must read them well.

Based on the quotation above, the writer conclude that reading is the act or activity to comprehend written language to get the meaning or what the writer wants and to get the information of the text. Reading used to ease people get information from the text, book, magazine, newspaper, and other.

Reading is one of the main skill that students must acquire in the process of mastering a foreign language in school. Through reading students get a lot information from the text and also reading can improve students skill in learning English exactly.

Comprehension is the power of understanding, an aimed improving testing, ones understanding of a language.⁴ Elizabeth states that comprehension is the process of deriving meaning from connected text.⁵ In addition, Gillet and Temple argues that comprehension is the readers' understand the content of the text by involving prior knowledge, knowledge of structure, and reader's active to look for information.⁶ It can be concluded that comprehension is a process to produce meaning from the text by involving prior knowledge to look for information.

⁶ Jean Wallace Gillet and Charles Temple, Understanding Reading Problem, (United States of America, Harper Collins College Publishers, 1994), p.34.

Jean Wallace Gillet states that reading comprehension is the search for meaning, actively using our knowledge of the word and of text to understand each new thing we read.⁷ Furthermore, Janette argues that reading comprehension is a process that engages many interactions between the readers and what they get from the text (previous knowledge, strategy use) that related to the text.⁸ Moreover, Soro defines that in reading comprehension requires the use of strategies before, during and after reading.⁹ Reading comprehension is the activities that acquire the readers to read meticulously in order to understand the total meaning of a reading selection. The readers should use the strategy in their reading activity when they want to know the content of the text.

The word ability in Oxford Advance Learners' Dictionary means the power or capacity to do or act physically, mentally, legally or financially.¹⁰ It means that ability is the quality of level skill or intelligent which is own by the people to do something.

Based on statement above, it can be concluded that reading comprehension ability is the students active process to comprehend and to do something that aimed to get information when they reading a text.

b. The Kinds of Reading Comprehension Ability

Pearson and Nicholson in Vila Panton Smith categorized reading comprehension into four categories namely, literal reading comprehension ability, interpretation reading comprehension ability, critical reading comprehension ability and creative reading comprehension ability.¹¹

1) Literal Reading Comprehension Ability

The first category does not include the thinking skills. Teachers do not need special help on this. It is as the skill of getting the primary, direct literal meaning of a word, idea, or sentence in context. There is no depth in this kind of reading. For example, the types of meaning question: “what did little brother want to eat?” giving the answer requires no thinking because there are the exact words given in the book. Practicing in literal comprehension dominates practice on the meaning-getting skills because the following techniques are so widely used: (1) fact question based directly on the text, (2) true-false statements, (3) completion sentences, (4) multiple-choice exercise.

2) Interpretative Reading Comprehension Ability

Interpretative is the label for a very usable category of thinking skills, which should be emphasized in reading. This term could be used in a sense broad enough to cover all of the thinking skills. In general, it may be said that interpretation probes for greater depth than literal comprehension. It is concerned with supplying meanings not directly stated in the text. For example, the type of question “Why was the cookie jar kept on the basement steps?” interpretative involves a cluster of several different kinds of thinking skills, such as : (1) making generalizations, (2) reasoning cause and effect, (3) anticipating endings, (4) making comparisons, (5) sensing motives, (5) discovering relationships.

3) Critical Reading Comprehension Ability

The critical reading skill category is the one most directly in need of development in American life at the present time. According to smith, critical reading includes literal comprehension and interpretation as previously defined, but it goes further than either of these in that the reader evaluates, passes personal judgment on the quality, the value, the accuracy and the truthfulness of what is read. For example, the type of question, “Did mother do the right thing in leaving the children alone?” these skills should not be included under interpretation.

4) Creative Reading Comprehension Ability

The term “creative reading” is frequently used in as broad a sense as “inferences”, “critical reading” and other current popular terms which many have fallen into the habit of employing as one label-to cover all thought processes in reading. Creative reading accompanies and grows out of literal comprehension, interpretation or critical reading, but it is different from any one of these. For example, the type of question, “How would you have solved this problem?” creative reading in its higher form starts with a question or an inquiry which arises in the mind of the reader, personally, and is usually carried forward with high motivation, often a sense of urgency. We can’t expect this higher type of creative reading to happen in the classroom very often, unless the teacher does something to develop it.

Based on the explanation above, the student of Senior High School in tenth grader included in interpretation reading comprehension ability because interpretation are involving a cluster of several different kinds of thinking skills and concerning with supplying meaning not directly stated in text.

c. The Measurement of Assessment Reading Comprehension Ability

To know the achievement of reading comprehension ability should be measured use the assessment of reading. There are some varieties of questions forms which can be used namely:

1) Pronominal Questions, Imperatives

In pronominal questions, the students should answer the question by writing some ideas from the text as their answer in line with the questions. The assessment depends on the completeness and accuracy of the students’ answer in this question. In these questions, short answer are required and these forms of questions are called short answer questions.

2) True/False, Yes/No, Alternatives Question, Multiple-choice

In these questions forms, the students do not make their own answer which is available within the questions or instructions. In multiple-choice questions, it can ask about the details or general aspects of a text. Commonly, every question contains four choices and one of them is correct answer.

3) Information Transfer

To measure the students' comprehension, the teacher can use incomplete information transfer diagrams in reading assessment. The learners read the text and fill in the diagram with short notes.¹²

In conclusion, the measure of achievement focus on the learning done in a particular course. If the course focus on speed reading, the achievement measure would be a speed reading measure. Similarity, if the course has focus on reading academic texts, the measure could be comprehension measure using academic texts.

2. The Concept of Narrative Text

a. The Definition of Narrative Text

Narrative is an account of events in the past which entails following a time sequence or chronological order (i.e. earliest first).¹³ A narrative text is a written craft that tell a story by representing a sequence of events.

¹² I.S.P Nation, Teaching ES/EFL Reading and Writing, (New York: Routledge, 2009), p. 77-79

¹³ R. R Jordan, Academic Writing Course Study Skill in English, (UK: Cambridge University Press, 2003), p. 27.

Thomas Kane argue that narrative is a meaningful sequence if event told in words.¹⁴ It is sequential in that the events are ordered, not merely random. Sequence always involves arragement in time (and usually other arragements as well).

A narrative is a text that tells a story and, in doing so, entertains the audience.¹⁵ Also, its narrative purpose is mainly to inform often contains large passage arranging the events in a story strictly in chronological order.

From the explanation above, it can be concluded that narrative text is telling chronology an event. Besides, it is way to present a story that tells true or fictional. Knowing the pattern upon which creative narration is build will help a person to read stories with more interestingly.

b. Language Feature of Narrative Text

The language that usually found in a narrative text are:

- 1) Specific characters.
- 2) Time words that connect events to tell when they occur.
- 3) Verbs to show the actions that occur in the story.
- 4) Descriptive words to portray the characters and settings.¹⁶

¹⁴ Thomas Kane, The Oxford Essential Guide to Writing. (New York: Oxford Univeristy Press, Inc, 2000). p.336

¹⁵ Mark Anderson and Khaty Anderson, Text Types in English 3, (South Yarra: Mcmillan, 1998), p.13

¹⁶ Ibid., p.8

The language feature shown above are being used by a narrator. There always be specific characters in every story. For instance, in the story of Malin Kundang, the specific character is Malin Kundang. The time words are also used in that story, for example “One day...”. and also the last two language features.

The language feature provided to help the readers in understanding the story. By past tense used, the readers will know what happened in the story. Conjunction is also really important to describe the characters and settings of the story.

From the explanation above, narrative text has certain language features which are adapted from a story. It shows how the whole story is, also becomes a special characteristic of narrative text among other text.

3. Concept of Skimming Technique

a. Definition of Skimming Technique

Edward B. Fry define skimming as “very fast reading”¹⁷. It means that skimming will assist the reader in finding the main idea in a reading quickly and accurately, because in reading a text is not all words or phrases that include the main idea or message of the author, could be a word phrase is just a complement.

Farrel states that skimming is a technique that involves students looking through the text rapidly for the general meaning of an article.¹⁸

¹⁸ Thomas Farrel S.C., Planning Lesson., p.28-29.

Skimming implied obtain the main point or gist before one reads for details.

Then Richards describe that skimming is taking the most important information from the page without reading all the words.¹⁹ It means that skimming is activity to find out information from the text or passage without read every single word in the text or passage, the reader just looking for and making off important ideas and skipping secondary material.

From the quotations above, it can be concluded that, skimming is a technique that used in reading process to identify the main idea or general knowledge in detail quickly without having to take a long time. Skimming is one of the ways in reading that the reader doesn't have to read all the words in passage, looking for and marking off important ideas and skipping secondary material. The student can then go back later to read more closely and take notes on important points.

In a reading text is not all words or phrases that include the main idea or message of the author, could be a word or phrase is just a complement, skimming might be helpful when someone wants to find out quickly about the writer's idea, It necessary to know that in skimming reading word by word is not important, because only the writer's point of view is needed.

¹⁹ Richard Stuz and Peter Weverka, Speed Reading fo Dummies, (Canada:Willey Publishing, 2009), p:166.

The students must try to skim as fast as they perhaps can while leaving out large chunks of material. Since this might slow and cause to read unnecessary details to be accurate to avoid getting too interested in the subject or the history. Skimming is done when the students do not have much time and when wish to cover material at the fastest possible rate. Remember that the aim of skimming is to get the author's main ideas at a very fast speed.

b. Definition of Scanning Technique

Brown define that scanning is reading quickly to locate specific information or details.²⁰ It means that, to get information from the text, readers should read a text quickly and focus on the reading passage. When the reader read that passage meticulously they will find specific information or details clearly.

Edward B. Fry argue that scanning is a reading skill that use when the reader want to locate a single fact or a specific bit of information without reading every part of a story, article, list or document.²¹ It means that when the readers want to finding a fact from the passage, the reader do not need to read all part of passage. the readers simply move their eyes quickly down the passage until they find the fact from the passage.

Based on the quotation above, it can be conclude that scanning is reading technique that used to find specific information of the text meticulously. Sometimes the readers should read quickly or slow their reading period that is depending on the text. If the text is easy, the readers must be not slow their reading period.

²⁰ Brown, H Douglas, Teaching by Principles an Interactive Approach to Language Pedagogy (Francisco: San Francisco State University, 2001), p.327.

²¹ Edward B. Fry, Skimming and Scanning., p. 40.

c. The Difference Between Skimming and Scanning

The difference between skimming and scanning is that when the reader scan for information they looking for something very specific, for example a telephone number or an answer to a particular question. The reader generally stop once they have it. Skimming is used when the reader seeking more a general impression of what the text is about. The reader could skim a whole text if they wanted to, but they would probably not skim a whole telephone directory to find their number.²² It can be said that the difference between skimming and scanning depend on the utilizing of the reader, if they want to looking for very specific information they can use scanning but when the reader want to seeking more general impression from the text, they can use skimming technique.

d. The Principles of Using Skimming Technique to Improve Reading Comprehension

There are a number of activities that teachers can apply to help students study from the text, they are divided into pre-reading, while-reading and post-reading activities, but some may be applied at diverse times. Albert J. Harris and Edward Sipay states there are strategies of reading as follow:

²² Tina Constant, The Teach Yourself, (U.S.A: contemporary books, a Division of the MoGrav-hill Companies, 2003), p.33.

1. Pre-reading

Pre-reading activities is to increase the probability that the reading material will be understood by the students. Pre-reading activities may be grouped into general study strategies, procedures for relating prior knowledge to upcoming textual information and graphic representation these activities are not mutually exclusive.

2. While-Reading

Study guide is teaching aid prepared by the teacher and used by students. The purpose is twofold: to facilitate the student's comprehension of the text and to develop comprehension skills. It usually a typewritten, keyed to the book, that be placed beside the textbook and referred to while-studying.

3. Post-reading

The post reading activity it can help students learn to separate important from less important information and to organize information.²³

Based on the theoretical foundation, it is clear that principles of reading comprehension is the activities of teaching reading that have stages in understanding of textual information and graphic representation. This activates facilitate and help student to learn important information and to organize this information. The activities can increase the students reading comprehension ability so that students understand what they have read.

e. Types of Skimming

There are three different types of skimming to use depending on the user purpose:

1) Skimming to overview

The purpose of this method to get an outlines of what the material is about.

2) Skimming to preview

This is used when the student know, the students are going to re-read the material. Students' purpose is together as much background information as the student can read on the subject without spending too much time on it.

3) Skimming to review

The student would use this method when the student have already the material and students' purpose is to re-familiarize student with the event.²⁴

From the explanation above, the writer conclude that the function of skimming it depending on the purpose of reading. Where skimming as a starting point in reading.

²⁴ Tina Constant, The Teach Yourself., p.35.

f. Advantages and Disadvantages of Using Skimming Technique

Skimming is a high speed reading that can save time and help the readers get through lots of materials quickly.²⁵ Skimming is useful when the students have to decide if a long piece of writing is worth close study. If a student with an hour to do some research is presented with 10 textbooks and there will not be time to read them all. Skimming can also be an effective way of quickly reviewing that has been previously, so that the reader can recall the most significant parts. When the students do skim, they can save a time for specific information, get a very basic idea what the reading is about, and then the students can decide whether or not they need to read it more carefully, it provides a general overview of the reading, it may get more interested in the subject.

Besides advantages, Skimming has disadvantages for students. They are:

- 1) Skimming technique is sometimes difficult to determine where is the main idea
- 2) The students are less understood of the whole content of the text.
- 3) Communication during skimming slower and less efficient than direct selection.²⁶

Skimming a book, article or webpage only gives the reader a general idea of its contents. Nuances, vital detail and caveats are easily missed. This can produce a confused or misleading impression. Skimming works well when it dealing with clear subjects that lend themselves to a general overview, such as a chronological description of an event. Skimming is far less effective in making sense of complex discussions or detailed arguments. It means that skimming is not effective for discussion, because not specific enough to be able to tell all the details, to pass an exam about it.

²⁵ Beatrice S. Mikulecky, More Reading Power, (USA: Addison-Wesley Publishing Company, Inc, 1996), p.132.

²⁶Beukelman, Augmentative and Alternative Communication, 3rd Edition, (USA : American, Scientific Publisher, 1993), p.23.

g. The Steps of Skimming Technique

Skimming is very useful for the student in getting the general idea of a text or passage easily. Knowing how to skim will make students be better reader, Fry gives several steps to increase our skimming rate as follows:

1) Read the first several paragraphs

Suppose you are skimming a factual article with several thousand words. To read effectively, read all of the first several paragraph in order to identify the topic of the article, the subject, a little the author's style, the author's viewpoint, and so on.

2) Leave out material

Once, you have a general overview of the article, you should begin to leave out material right away if you are to achieve a high skimming rate. So, on the fourth or fifth paragraph you may read only the key sentences to get the main idea and skip the rest of the paragraph. Perhaps you will read the key sentences and let your eyes jump down through the paragraph, picking up one or two important words, phrases, or numbers.

3) Find the main ideas

In skimming, try to get the main idea of every paragraph plus a few facts. You cannot hope to pick up all the facts in the article, but you might pick up some facts, names, or numbers.

Sometimes the main idea will not be the first sentence in the paragraph. In some paragraphs the main idea is located in the middle of a paragraph or at the end. You will then have to spend some time looking for the key sentence.

4) Read fast

Skimming must be done “against the clock.” That is you must try to skim as fast as you possibly can while leaving out large chunks of material. Be careful to avoid getting too interested in the subject or the story, since this might slow you down and cause you to read unnecessary details.²⁷

To get started, read the entire first several paragraphs in order to identify the topic of the text, the subject, the tone of author's style, the author's view point and so on. Leave nothing out, but read at top speed. Frequently, an author will give an introduction in the first paragraph, it will help to give the student overall of the text.

Skimming rate should be about twice as fast as student's average reading speed. For example student's average reading speed is 400 words per minute, the student could achieve skimming rate 800 words per minutes or better.

When skimming, therefore, the readers do not need to read every single word to get the main idea of a text. They should know the location of the main idea. Most of the main ideas are in the first sentence of each paragraph but main idea may appear else where in the paragraph as well. By describing the common location of the topic sentence, students could practice in finding the topic sentence in a series of paragraph.

The students should read only key words. These key words would be the topic, the descriptive adjectives, the abstractions, and the punctuation words. So if the student knows these classes of the words, they will feel easy in reading the text. They should try to keep those words in mind while looking for them in the reading material. To skim by reading key words, the reader must be convinced that they can skip words and still continue reading. Some necessary words, phrases and sentences may omitted in order to absorb the material rapidly. After reading they should be able to conclude the reading material to the general idea.

Skimming is done at a speed three to four times faster than normal reading. People often skim when they have lots of material to read in a limited amount of time. Skimming is the first technique to do if the main goal is to find general information within a text. But this technique also applies if the reader does not have a specific purpose, but just wanted to know whether a text contains some information that may suit their interests. In other words the purpose of reading have to very special, but can also be a desire to knowing a reading worth reading further not.

B. Action Hypothesis

Based on the review, the writer formulates the hypothesis as follows:

Using Skimming Technique can improve students reading comprehension ability in narrative text among the tenth graders of MA Darul A'mal Metro in Academic Year of 2018/2019.

CHAPTER III

RESEARCH METHOD

A. Setting and Subject of the Research

The research was conducted at the MA Darul A'mal Metro which located in Pesantren Street, Mulyojati, West Metro, Lampung Province.

The subject of this research is the tenth grade students at MA Darul A'mal Metro in Academic year of 2018/2019. There are six classes in the tenth graders and the writer chooses class X IPS 1 consists of 33 students.

The writer chooses class X IPS 1 as subjects of the research based on suggestion from the teacher and the writer observation during job training in MA Darul A'mal, most of students are very low in English lesson especially in reading comprehension ability.

In this research, the writer need a collaborator to help this research, she is Mrs. Husnil Fajariah, S.Pd. She is an English teacher at MA Darul A'mal Metro.

B. Object of Research

The object of this research is reading comprehension ability. In this research, the writer selects Skimming Technique as a technique to improve reading comprehension ability of the students. By using skimming technique, writer hopes that students will be able to find main idea in a text easily.

C. Action Plan

The research method used in this study is classroom action research. Action research is a method for improving and modifying the working system of a classroom in school.²⁸ It means that classroom action research is a research that is used to investigate and evaluate they work in teaching and learning with the aim of collect information about what they want.

According to Kumar, action research is research method which is aimed improving and modifying the working system of a classroom in the school or institution.²⁹ It means that classroom action research have a important role to increase teaching and learning process in the classroom.

Mc. Niff defines that action research is a name given to particular way of researching your own learning.³⁰ It means that classroom action research is the research which the aim is to solve the problem in teaching and learning process in the class.

From the quotation above, it can be concluded that classroom action research is the research that is applied to improve the working system of teaching and learning in the classroom. The writer hopes that this research can improve students reading comprehension in narrative text by using skimming technique.

³⁰Jean Mc. Niff., Action Research: Principle and Practice, (London and New York, 2002), Second Edition, p. 15.

This research conducted by using of the cycle process. Next, the writer conducted the study following the procedures consist of planning, acting observing and reflecting.

D. Research Procedures

In this classroom action research, the writer was conducted the research in two cycles. Between of the cycle has relationship each other. Generally, there are four steps in the implementation of classroom action research, including:

³¹ Anne Burns, Collaborative Action Research for English Language Teachers, (UK: Cambridge University Press, 1999), p.33.

planning, acting, observation and reflection. If the first cycle will not reach the requirement grade yet, the cycle must be reviewed in the second cycle.

The writer has to implement the good procedure as well in Classroom Action Research (CAR). The writer has to conduct at least two cycles. If the first cycle is fail, it will be continued in the second cycle and soon. It will be conducted for the purpose to improving students reading comprehension ability. The classroom action research that will be conducted by the writer can be illustrated as follow:

a. Cycle I

1) Planning

Planning will be the first step of this teaching context and it is prepared before the writer did the action. In this activity, the writer and collaborator were focus to make lesson plan. There are activities in planning:

- a) The writer prepared the material, making lesson-plan, and designing the steps in doing action.
- b) The writer prepared list of students' name.
- c) The writer prepared sheet for classroom observation.
- d) The writer prepared a test (to know the students reading comprehension ability in narrative text).

2) Acting

Doing action is the second step in the activity. Action is the realization of the plan that writer has made before. The writer will implement skimming technique in the teaching learning process. Those activities as follow:

a) Pre-teaching activities

1. The writer greeted the students.
2. The students and the writer prayed together.
3. The writer checked the attendant list.
4. The writer asked the students condition.

b) While teaching activities

1. The writer applied lesson plan.
2. The writer explained about skimming technique as a technique used in teaching learning.
3. The writer gave reading text about narrative text to students.
4. The writer gave a list of questions based on the text.
5. The writer asked the students to do skimming in reading the text then they asked answer questions based on the text.
6. Students read the entire first several paragraph in order to identify the topic of the text, the subject, the little of author's style, the author's view point and so on. On the fourth or fifth paragraph students may read only the key sentence to get the main idea. Students should read at a speed three to four times faster than normal reading.
7. After students finished answer the question, the writer asked the students to read their answer in front of the class one by one.

c) Post teaching activities

1. The writer asked to the students about difficulties of the material.
2. The writer gave explanation and then make conclusion together.
3. The writer greeted the students.

3) Observing

In this step, the observer observed the student's activities, their participations, class and learning process, and the writer performance by using structure observation form make note the overall activities. Furthermore, the writer will also collect the data from the post test and result of student's activity. In other word, the writer would observe and collect the data when the learning process is doing.

4) Reflecting

Reflecting is the last step of classroom action research cycles. The writer reflected the activities in the first cycle what disadvantages of the action must be improved and planned for the next treatment. By reflection, the writer will know the strength and the weakness from the action that the writer has done.

The writer analyzed and observed the test result during teaching learning process. If in the cycle I there are some students not successful, the writer must conduct cycle II. The result from cycle I is for evaluation material for reflection to cycle II. If the cycle I is failed, it must review in cycle II, and if the cycle I is successful, cycle II is continuation from cycle I.

b. Cycle II1) Planning

- a) The writer studied the reflection result in the first action.
- b) The writer and the collaborator discussed the action that would be done on cycle II.
- c) The writer and the collaborator arranged the detail plan about the action on cycle II

2) Acting

In this step, it regarded with same step in previous cycle in which the writer and the collaborator applied the revised plan such as lesson plan, selected material and instrument for evaluation to be implemented in teaching and learning process in the classroom.

3) Observing

In this step, the writer and the collaborator observed the teaching learning process by using format observation to collect data in action plan II.

4) Reflecting

In this step, the writer and the collaborator compared the score of pre-test and post-test. The writer knew the strengths and weakness of the action. The writer reviewed and reflected on students' activities whether it is positive or negative, the second cycle enough or need for the next step.

E. Data Collection Method

The writer collected the data by using data collection method as follow:

1. Test

Test is a set of stimuli which given to the personal to obtain the respond based on what is assessed.³² In this research, the test will be given to the students consist of two types; pre-test and post-test:

a. Pre-test

First, pre-test is examined to the students before giving the treatment through the implementation of Skimming Technique to evaluate their ability first. The type of pre-test is reading comprehension test. In this pre-test the writer applied objective test in the form of multiple choice.

b. Post-test

Second, post-test examined to the students after they are taught reading comprehension by using Skimming Technique as the treatment to find out the improvement before and after giving treatment. It can be seen by comparing the result between pre-test and post-test. In this post-test the writer applies objectives test in the form of multiple choice.

2. Observation

According to Wallace, observation is data collection technique which concerns on some form of observation of learning processes and it may involves the use of video or audio techniques or of checklist or observational schedule.³³ In this research, the writer using observation to obtain the data about students' learning activity or participation in the classroom which observed by observer.

3. Documentation

Documentation is the way that used to get more information about the setting of the research. In this research, the writer took the data from school about total of the students, the teachers and the condition of the school.

4. Field Note

Field note is observation instrument used in Classroom Action Research (CAR) to provide a record of what is going an observation which includes description of places, people, objects, acts, activities, events, purposes, times and feelings.³⁴ In this research, the researcher using filed note to record the student's activity during the learning process in narration form.

F. Data Analysis Method

The writer collected and analyzed the entire data by taking average score between pre-test and post-test of students reading comprehension ability per action in each cycle. The formula to figure out average between pre-test and post-test as follow:³⁵

³³ Michael J Wallace, Action Research for Language Research, (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1998), p.46.

³⁴Donald Ary, et.al, Introduction to Research..., p.526

³⁵ James B. Schreiber and Kimberly Asner-self, Educational Research, (New Jersey: John Wiley and Sons, 2011), p.233.

$$X = \frac{\Sigma x}{N}$$

X = Mean

Σx = Sum of the scores

N = Number of scores

Furthermore, to know the students achievement after the test, the researcher will compare between pre-test and the post-test, then the result will be matched with the minimum standard in the school. In the tenth grade at MA Darul A'mal the minimum standard in English subject is 76. If there were some students that are not successful in cycle I it means that the writer has to conduct the cycle II, if in the cycle II there were some students that are not successful, the cycle III has to be conducted and so on. But if in the cycle II all of students were successful, the cycles were able to be stopped in the classroom (CAR) the minimum cycle that must be conducted are two cycles.

G. Indicators of Success

The indicator success takes from the process and the result of the learning activities. The students are called success if 76% students get 76 score in the post test, it means that the Skimming Technique can give positive effect on improving students reading comprehension ability.

CHAPTER IV

RESULT AND DISCUSSION

A. Description of the Research Setting

1. Description of Research Location

a. Brief History at MA Darul A'mal Metro

Madrasah Aliyah (MA) Darul A'mal is one of Islamic Senior High School in Metro City. located in Mulyojati Village, Metro City, established in 1990, founded by the Mr. KH. Khusnan Mustafa Ghufran and gained support from the surrounding community.

B. Implementation of the Use of Skimming Technique to Improve Students

Reading Comprehension Ability in Narrative Text

In this process before the process of cycle one, the writer conducted the pre-test on 12th of January 2019 at 12.30-01.30 pm and it took about 60 minutes. The result of the students' pre-test can be seen on the table below

Furthermore, because of the Minimum Mastery Criteria (MMC) in MA Darul A'mal Metro was 76, based on the data above, it can be seen that there was only 1 (3,0%) student who fulfilled the minimum mastery criteria and there were 32 (97,0%) students were failed . it means that in pre-test there were more than a half of the students were failed. Moreover, from the result of the pre-test, we got students' average score 53,6. So the result was still unsatisfactory. That is the reason, why the writer chooses Skimming Technique to improve students reading comprehension especially in narrative text.

1. Cycle I

a. Plan

Based on the result of pre-test score, the researcher has identified and found the problems after taking the students' pre-test score. Therefore, the researcher and collaborator prepared several things related to teaching and learning process such as the English subject lesson plan, the material, media work sheet, observation sheet that contains about list of students' names and activity, and evaluation for the first meeting in cycle I.

b. Acting

The first meeting in cycle I was treatment. The researcher conducted the treatment on Saturday, January 19th, 2019. In this meeting, the researcher as the English teacher and Mrs. Husnil Fajariyah, S.Pd as the collaborator. The researcher started the meeting by praying, greeting, check attendance list and asking the condition of the students. Afterwards, the researcher gave some motivation and then gave the material about narrative text.

At the beginning of teaching learning process, the researcher gives a motivation about “English is Easy” and the researcher asked the students about Narrative text. Some of the students forgot and just a little of them have known the definition about Narrative text. Secondly, the researcher explained about definition, generic structure, social function and language feature of Narrative text. After that, the researcher gave a narrative text, the title is “The Story of The Smart Parrot”, then the researcher asked the students to read the text and then asked to find the main idea from the text.

Afterwards, the researcher explained about the use of skimming technique in reading narrative text. The researcher asked students to read the text anymore in several minutes then they should answer the question from the text. Students follow the steps in reading text using skimming technique, they read at the first paragraph from the text to identify the topic of the text, the subject, a little the aauthor’s style, the author’s viewpoint and so on. The students should begin to leave out material right away if they are to achieve a high skimming rate. So, on the fourth or fifth paragraph they may read only the key sentences to get the main idea and skip the rest of the paragraph. Perhaps they will read the key sentences and let their eyes jump down through the paragraph, picking up one or two important words, phrases, or numbers. Next, students try to get the main idea of every paragraph plus a few facts. Then, Students must try to skim as fast as possible they can. After the students done skim and answer all the question from the text, they should stand in front of the class to read their answer.

In the end of meeting, the researcher gave feedback to the students of the learning process. The researcher gave motivation and informed to the students about the activities in the next meeting. Then, the researcher closed the material by praying together.

After did a treatment, the researcher gave post-test I to the students. The post-test I was conducted on Saturday, January 26th, 2019. The post-test I was done to know the students' reading comprehension ability after giving treatment. The researcher gave 20 multiple choice. The result of post-test in cycle I could be seen on the table, as follow:

Source: The post-test I result taken on 26th January 2019

From the table 11, it could be analyzed that the students' average score was 72,42. The highest score was 95 and the lowest score was 50. Based on the minimum mastery criteria (MMC), there were 21 or about 63,3% students was failed because they got score less than 76 and there were 12 or about 36,4% students passed on post-pest I or got score more than 76. It means that in cycle I the students' achievement could improve enough, but it was not successful yet.

c. Observing

In observation sheet the researcher has done, the collaborator observed the students' activities. The researcher as a teacher gave material about reading narrative text by using Skimming technique.

In the learning process, there were three activities that used to know the students' activity. Every student who was active in learning process gave a thick in observation sheet. Then, the students were not active in learning process, let the observation sheet empty. It can be seen on appendix. The result of the students' learning activities could be seen as follow:

The Result of Students Learning Activities in Cycle I

| No | Students Activities | Frequency | Percentage |
|----|---|-----------|------------|
| 1 | Giving attention to the teacher's explanation | 15 | 45,5% |
| 2 | Asked/ answered the question from the teacher | 16 | 48,5% |
| 3 | The students active to give an idea | 12 | 36,4% |
| 4 | Students are able to do the task | 16 | 48,5% |

The table shown that not all the students' active in learning process. There were 15 students (45,5%) who gave attention to the teacher's explanation, 16 students (48,5%) who understood the materials, 12 (36,4%) students active to give an idea and 16 students (48,5%) were able to do task.

Based on the result above, it could be inferred that the learning process of cycle I was not successfully because there are not got percentage more than 76%.

d. Reflecting

In this step, the researcher concluded that cycle I did not run well because most of students did not achieve the minimum mastery criteria (MMC). It could be seen from the result of pre-test and post-test I score. However, most of the students' score had improved although the condition of learning process was uncontrolled enough.

From the result of observation in cycle I, there were some problems that found, as follow:

- 1) There were students that shown unenthusiastic to the teacher's explanation.
- 2) Some students did not ask and answer the teacher's questions.

Based on the result of reflection in cycle I, there were some problems to be revised in cycle II, such as:

- 1) The teacher gave more motivation to the students in order to study harder and made the learning process more attractive.
- 2) The teacher gave more detail explanation and questions after explaining the materials to control the students' comprehension.
- 3) The teacher guided the students to understand about the material.

2. Cycle II

Because of the action in cycle I was not success, in order that in the stage need to be held the cycle II to repair the weakness teaching learning process in cycle I. The step of cycle II as follow:

a. Plan

Based on observation and reflection in cycle I, it shown that cycle I was not successful yet. Therefore, the researcher and collaborator tried to revise the several problems that appeared in cycle I and arranged the planning for continuing cycle II. The researcher prepared the lesson plan, the material, worksheet, observation sheet that contains about list of students' names and activity, and evaluation for test in cycle II.

b. Acting

The first meeting in cycle II was done on Saturday, February 1st 2019 at 12.30-01.30 p.m. the researcher began the class by greeted the students. After that, the researcher asked about their condition and checked the attendance list. The researcher reviewed explanations the material of narrative text and explain anymore how to use skimming technique in reading narrative text. The researcher gave a narrative text with the title “Sangkuriang”. The researcher asked students to skim the text then find the main idea from the text. Similar with the cycle I, the Students follow the steps in reading text using skimming technique, they read at the first paragraph from the text to identify the topic of the text, the subject, a little the aauthor’s style, the author’s viewpoint and so on. The students should begin to leave out material right away if they are to achieve a high skimming rate. On the fourth or fifth paragraph they may read only the key sentences to get the main idea and skip the rest of the paragraph. Perhaps they will read the key sentences and let their eyes jump down through the paragraph, picking up one or two important words, phrases, or numbers. Next, students try to get the main idea of every paragraph plus a few facts. Then, Students must try to skim as fast as possible they can. After that, the researcher asked the students to answer the short answer question from the text. There are 5 questions that students should answer it.

In the end of meeting, the researcher gave motivation and feedback to the students of the learning process. Then, the researcher closed the material and praying together.

After did a treatment in cycle II, the researcher gave post-test II to the students. The post-test II was conducted on Saturday, February 9th, 2019. The post-test II was similar with post-test I, it consist of 20 multiple choice questions and they must finished it in 60 minutes. The score of post-test II can be seen on the table below:

From the result table above, it could be analyzed that the students' average score was 84,39. The highest score was 95 and the lowest score was 70. Based on the minimum mastery criteria (MMC), there were 5 or about 15,2% students was failed because they got score less than 76 and there were 28 or about 84,8% students passed on post-pest II or got score more than 76. It means that there was an improvement from post-test I to post-test II.

c. Observing

Based on the result of the observation sheet in cycle II, the researcher indicated that learning process in cycle II was successful. The result of students' learning activities observation, as follow:

Table 12

The Result of Students Learning Activities in Cycle II

| No | Students Activities | Frequency | Percentage |
|----|---|-----------|------------|
| 1 | Giving attention to the teacher's explanation | 26 | 78,8% |
| 2 | Asked/ answered the question from the teacher | 30 | 90,9% |
| 3 | The students active to give an idea | 28 | 84,8% |
| 4 | Students are able to do the task | 29 | 87,9% |

The table above shown that the students' activity in cycle II was improve. The students' activity that had high percentage were students asked/answered the question from the teacher that were 30 or about 90,9% students. Furthermore, the students' who giving attention to the teacher's explanation there were 26 or 78,8% students. Then, there are 28 or about 84,8% students active to give an idea as long teaching learning process. The last, students are able to do task were 29 or 87,9%. Based on the result above, the researcher indicated that learning process in cycle II was successful because students percentage more than 76%.

d. Reflecting

The result of cycle II was better than cycle I, it can be seen that the most of students have not difficulties to find main idea and got a lot information from narrative text. By using skimming technique the students do not have to take a long time to get information from the text, it is the most efficient technique in reading.

Moreover, in cycle II the students more enthusiastic as long teaching learning process, most of students got good score. It is happened caused the researcher and the collaborator has revised and improved the teaching and learning process in cycle I. In cycle II, the students were also active to do the assignment and test than before.

Finally, the researcher concluded that the problem had been solved by using Skimming technique. The students help students to find the main idea or get information from the text with more efficient way and the students reading comprehension ability were improve.

There were only 48,5% who asked and answered the question that given by teacher has improved up to 90,9%. The students were active to give an idea during teaching learning process has reached out from 36,4% up to 84,8%. The students were able to do task has reached out from 48,5% up to 87,9%.

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

A. CONCLUSION

Based on the result of the implementation of learning reading through the use of Skimming technique in two cycle of the classroom action research, the researcher would like to give conclusion that Skimming Technique can be an effective way to improve students reading comprehension ability especially in narrative text.

In addition, there is significant improvement of students learning product from pre-test up to post-test II. It could be seen in pre-test in which the average score was 53,6 by the percentage success was 3,0%, in post-test I the average score was 72,4 by the percentage success was 36,4% and in the post-test II the average score was 84,4 by the percentage success was 84,8%.

Moreover, this classroom action research was successful in improving students reading comprehension especially in narrative text viewed from indicator of success because of 84,4% of the total students already passed the Minimum Mastery Criteria (MMC) score at least 76. As a result, the cycle could not be conduct in the next cycle.

B. SUGGESTION

Based on the result the research above, the researcher would like to suggest as follow:

1. For the students

The students were suggested to never give up when they find something difficult especially in studying English and try to practice it in their daily life. They have to be active to ask the teacher. Moreover, this technique can make the students be more active in English teaching learning process. To learn English especially in reading narrative text students can use skimming technique so they can read in more efficient way.

2. For the English Teacher

The teacher was suggested to teach students how to use skimming technique to reading a passage, so it can be quickly for student get information from long article or text. The teacher also could give motivation to the students to be active in reading skill because through reading students can get information from written language and it can increase their knowledge. Last, the teacher should create fun and enjoy situation and activity in the classroom, so the students can simulate students' interest during teaching and learning process.

3. For the Researcher

The other researcher was suggested to be able in developing this research with new innovation and hopefully the result of this research could be a reference for other researchers.

SANGKURIANG

A long time ago, the ancient land of Sunda was ruled by a king and queen who had but a single daughter. Her name was Dayang Sumbi. She was beautiful and clever but also pampered and spoiled.

One day as she was weaving in her pavilion, she became moody and distracted, which caused her to keep dropping her shuttle on the floor. Once when it fell she exclaimed she would marry the one who gave it back to her. At that very moment her dog Tumang, a demigod possessing magic powers, came up to her with the shuttle in his mouth. Dayang Sumbi had to marry him.

They lived happily together, and Dayang Sumbi gave birth to a baby boy, human in appearance but endowed with his father's magic powers. She named him Sangkuriang. As the boy grew up, he was always guarded by the faithful dog Tumang, whom he knew only as a companion and not as his father, Sangkuriang became handsome and brave.

One day his mother asked him to go hunting with the dog and bring her venison for a feast. After hunting all day without success, Sangkuriang worried about facing his mother empty-handed. Desperate, he took an arrow and shot the dog. He returned home and handed over the meat to his pleased mother. Soon after the feast, however, Dayang Sumbi questioned her son about the absence of Tumang. At first he evaded her queries but finally told her what had happened. She was horrified and struck her son so hard on the temple that he collapsed. For that, the old king banished his daughter from the court and she was made to roam around the kingdom. Sangkuriang recovered with a large scar on his temple, and he too left the court to wander about the world.

Years later, Sangkuriang met a beautiful woman and instantly fell in love with her. It was his own mother-they did not recognize each other. He proposed to her and she agreed to marry him. On the day before the wedding, as she was caressing her fiancée's hair, Dayang Sumbi detected the scar on the temple. Horror struck her, for she was about to marry her own son, Sangkuriang. Without revealing the whole truth to him, she tried unsuccessfully to dissuade him. Desperate to avoid the marriage, she set conditions she thought impossible to meet. Sangkuriang had to make a lake that filled the whole valley and build a boat for the couple to sail in, all before dawn.

Sangkuriang started to work. His love gave him extraordinary strength, and he used his magic powers to summon the spirits to help him. With boulders and mud they dammed the river in the valley and the water rose and began to form a lake. In the early morning hours he chopped down a huge tree in the forest and began hollowing it out to make a boat. When Dayang Sumbi saw that he was about to accomplish what she has thought impossible, she called on the gods to bring the sun up early and thwart Sangkuriang.

The cock crowed, the sun rose much earlier than usual, and Sangkuriang realized he had been deceived. In a fit of fury he caused Dayang Sumbi and kicked the half-finished boat back into the forest. There it lies upside down today, forming the mountain Tangkuban Perahu (Upturned Boat). Not far away is the stump of the tree Sangkuriang had felled, now called Bukit Tinggi. The dam Sangkuriang had built caused the valley to become a lake, where both Sangkuriang and Dayang Sumbi drowned themselves. They were never heard of again.

The Legend of Lahilote

Long time ago there lived a humble young man named Lhilote in a remote village of ancient Gorontalo. One night he dreamt, he was given a piece of such big rattan called "Hutiya Mala". The young man sprang up from his sleep upon the surprising dream.

A few days later on his way to the forest, Lahilote chanced to glance down the river and see a group of seven beautiful fairies who were bathing joyfully. The seven beauties left their "shawls", the magic scarves they used as the wings, on the river-bank. Greed soon lured Lahilote to steal and hide one of the shawls. As they were aware of the presence of Lahilote, the fairies soon stopped bathing and go out of water and fetched their shawls. They all flew to the heaven leaving the poor one who cried and sobbed desperately because she could not find her shawl. Lahilote approached and comforted her, then brought her home and proposed her to be his wife. The beautiful accepted his proposal and soon they married.

One day Lahilote told his wife that he had to go to the forest to collect rattan. His wife insisted to accompany him but he did not let her go with him. To keep herself busy Lahilote's wife wondered over the house and by chance she found her lost shawl kept very carefully in a bamboo tube. She felt very happy but at the same time very disappointed to know her husband's unfairness. She soon wore the shawl and flew away to heaven to leave her husband behind.

Lahilote got home happily because at that time he succeeded in collecting a great deal of rattan. But soon he got very much disappointed to know that his wife had flown away and the bamboo tube where he had kept the shawl was empty. At that very difficult moment, suddenly came a wise Polahi (a certain tribe living in the forest) man who gave him a piece of magic rattan. He told Lahilote succeeded to fly to the heaven and meet his beloved wife. Lahilote was allowed to stay in the heaven.

After some time, when his wife was looking for lice Lahilote's head, she happened to see some graying hair is allowed to stay in heaven. Upon his questions, she told her husband: "Love fades away when you get a graying because here in heaven you are no more than a shadow as soon as you get a piece of graying hair."

Broken-heartedly, Lahilote got down from the heaven making use of a piece of board. He swore : "From this point of Pohe beach up to the border of the shroud to cover my dead body, my left foot-print will be printed forever."

At the moment we can find a stone in the beach of pohe, in the Province Gorontalo with a foot-print stamped on it. the locals believe that is the foot-print of Lahilote.

Why does Sea Become Salty?

The legend of why sea became salty says that a long time ago, there was a giant that used to live in one of the islands next to the nice people, this giant was very generous and always gave them salt to prepare very tasty meals.

One day, the ocean was very agitated and the people could not go the giant's island for some salt, the days passed by and the sea was still very rough. Eventually they ran out of salt for their food and started to find a way to go and get it. A child gave them the idea to ask the gentle giant stretch one of his legs so could cross the ocean and get the salt they needed.

The giant accepted the idea, but when he stretched his leg, he didn't noticed that landed on an anthill. This made the ants furious and started to bite the poor giant's leg, the giant, in pain asked the people to hurry.

As soon as the people made it to the other side, the giant gave them sacks full of salt. When they were done the giant stretched his leg one more time, landing, again on the anthill.

The giant in more pain than before, begged to the people to hurry because the ants were biting him again, but the sacks were so heavy that slowed down the people. Sadly before the people were able to reach their own village, the giant in a scream of pain moved his leg to the ocean so the ants won't bite him anymore, throwing the people and the sacks of salt in it.

The giant saw the people drowning and in a quick move save them. But the salt melted in the ocean, that at that time didn't have any taste, making salty.

And this is the Legend of how the sea has the salty taste.

The Legend of Rawa Pening

Once upon a time, there was a little poor boy came into a little village. He was very hungry and weak. He knocked at every door and asked for some food, but nobody cared about him. Nobody wanted to help the little boy.

Finally, a generous woman helped him. She gave him shelter and meal. When the boy wanted to leave, this old woman gave him a "lesung", a big wooden mortar for pounding rice. She reminded him, "please remember, if there is a flood you must save yourself. Use this "lesung" as a boat". The boy was happy and thanked the old woman. The little boy continued his journey. While he was passing through the village, he saw many people gathering on the field. The boy came closer and saw a stick stuck in the ground. People challenged each other to pull out that stick. Everybody tried, but nobody succeeded. "Can I try?" asked the little boy. The crowd laughed mockingly. The boy wanted to try his luck so he stepped forward and pulled out the stick. He could do it very easily. Everybody was dumbfounded.

Suddenly, from the hole left by stick, water spouted out. It did not stop until it flooded the village. And no one was saved from the water except the little boy and the generous old woman who gave him shelter and meal. As she told him, he used the "lesung" as a boat and picked up the old woman. The whole village became a huge lake. It is now known as Rawa Pening Lake in Salatiga, Central Java, Indonesia.
